WHAT THE HECK IS LINT? (and other common questions)

Humility is not a matter of beating ourselves up. It is not a question of judging ourselves as stupid or sinful, as hopeless and bad. Who are we to judge these things? Humility is the gentle acceptance of that most tender place inside ourselves that throbs with the pain of separation from the Beloved [God]... It is the Sabbath of the soul when we heed the call to cease creating and remember that we are created.

Mirabai Starr

Actually, it's L E N T and the short answer to my own question is: because it (Lent) allows us time to practice humility and humility is essential if we are to live our faith and walk with Jesus as disciples. (Ok, not so short.) Humility is about as counter cultural a practice as can be found in America in the 21st century so practicing humility and supporting one another in that practice takes intentional time and effort. As the quote above points out, humility is the stance we take in order to experience God as God and to experience our proper relationship with God as God's beloved. Taking any other stance sets us up to try to be God of our own lives and distorts the life of discipleship.

Practicing humility is not degrading. Humility is empowering since it affirms our responsibility in relationship with God. Practicing humility can be as simple (and as difficult) as rearranging our schedule so that we can show up and participate in worship each week (which we do not only for ourselves, but for those others in our community of faith who need us to be there – we never know what impact our presence or our absence will have.) It can be as simple (and as difficult) as committing to participating in mid-week Lent gatherings. (Our musicians have agreed to provide leadership for two Holden Evening Prayer services every Tuesday night during Lent. We will share a meal in between those services so that either before or after the meal you can participate in worship. My hope is that a month's notice will allow time to plan for this schedule change.) We practice humility when we recognize that we don't have all the answers and can't do this life of faith on our own. We need each other, which is why Jesus established the church, so that we would never have to, or try to, go it alone! Like it or not, life hands us many ways to practice humility other than attending Lent services here at Amazing Grace. But that's one of our reasons for being, so I hope we can support one another in that.

There is an ELCA mission congregation in Denver, House for All Saints and Sinners led by a tattooed, self-described "sarcastic" Lutheran, Nadia Bolz-Weber. She says that she and the handful of people who began the new congregation with her knew they needed to "experience the heart of the Christian year" [Lent and the three days of Easter] together. Rev. Bolz-Weber says, "It was only having walked through the paschal mystery of Jesus' betrayal, death and resurrection that we were able to start talking with any integrity about who we were as people of God and how might we be the church together."

HFASS is an 'emerging' church which means different things to different people. But usually, emergent churches appeal to those who are unfamiliar or disillusioned with the organized and institutional church. Their approach, in general, is to look at every aspect of church life and how it interacts with the culture, retaining what is essential and faithful and rejecting what is unnecessary or in their view, may be even harmful to contemporary Christian community.

Amazing Grace is a long way from being a mission start congregation. But, since we face a time in American history when there are unprecedented numbers of people claiming NO religious affiliation; unprecedented numbers identifying themselves as spiritual-but-not-religious/atheist/agnostic and since we live in the part of the country with the LEAST number of church goers, maybe it would serve us well to see ourselves as, at least in some ways, EMERGENT. If that perspective helps us to open our-selves to see new possibilities for how God is calling us into the future to be the church, faithfully participating with God in what God is already doing here, then maybe that would be a good way for us to understand ourselves.

A beginning would be for us to experience “the heart of the Christian year together.” It’s interesting that as “emerging” churches reclaim the traditional liturgies of the church (with their unique modifications) for Ash Wednesday and Holy Week, more traditional mainline churches, such as Amazing Grace are seeing a decline in the number of people who attend these worship times. I’m not sure what that means. But, I do know that these are services are grounded in scripture and can bring us into the mystery of God’s presence.

Ash Wednesday we receive the cross of ashes on our forehead and hear the words spoken for us, “Remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return,” a vital reminder that we are mortal and we are sinners, regardless of how we understand that theologically. Weekly, we meet Tuesday evenings for the beautiful Holden Evening Prayer service and a shared meal, reinforcing cross+generational relationships and experiencing faith practices that will strengthen us and support one another as we all live into our baptismal promises to teach the faith to the next generations.

Lent culminates in Holy Week with services (really, one service in three parts) on each of the Three Days: Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter. This year, all of these services will be held at Amazing Grace. Maundy Thursday we will celebrate the Lord’s Supper by receiving this gift of grace with those who have gone through a time of instruction during Lent, learning about what communion is and what it means for us. This instruction is especially for children who may or may not have been receiving communion all ready. If you feel your child would benefit from this instruction, please let me know so that they can be included. If there is interest in an adult version of this instruction, we will do that as well. Let me know by emailing me or Susan in the office or by phoning the office. (All of those numbers and addresses are on the back of the worship folder every week.)

Gathering around these stories of Jesus’ life, death and resurrection grounds us as people of God in the mystery of the cross interpreted by the resurrection and the resurrection interpreted by the cross. As Christians, that is where we find our identity: in cross and resurrection held together. If we focus only on the cross and Good Friday OR only on resurrection and Easter, we distort the faith and miss the meaning of both. This is not easy for us to understand and not comfortable for us to live, which is why we need each other and why we need to revisit this heart of our faith every year. That is why we need not only the joy of Easter morning but also the stark space and honest words of Good Friday.

Lent begins with Ash Wednesday, March 5th. Lent worship and cross+generational gatherings begin Tuesday, March 11th and continue every Tuesday through April 8th. Holy Week begins with Palm/Passion Sunday, April 13th. Maundy Thursday is April 17th followed by Good Friday and Easter on April 20th. Please join your brothers and sisters in Christ at Amazing Grace and invite friends and neighbors to these times of formation and worship so that we can experience the mystery together and be formed to be God’s people here for this time.

May you live this month in the peace of knowing that God is with you!
Pastor Val

Our checking Balance as of 12/31/13 in is $3,062.56. Barb presented the 2014 proposed budget with a couple of minor changes. Dee moved to approve the 2014 budget, Coleman 2nd it. Motion passed.

Financial Secretary’s Report: Jim reported our record of giving for December was $16,795. In looking at our 2013 budgeted expenses we are at 93% of our yearly budgeted expenses.

Fellowship: No Report

Outreach: Kristine reminded everyone about the dinner this Sunday. She and Judi are still selling raffle tickets through the week and after Church on Sunday.

Property: Coleman inquired about the door by the shelter and to whether or not someone is making sure if it is getting locked after church and events at the church. The question was asked if checking the door near the shelter to make sure it is locked should be one of the responsibilities for fellowship hosts. This brought up the discussion of developing checklists for ushers, worship assistants, and others who help on Sundays. Coleman also reported he had not heard anything about rodents in the shelter and neither has Pastor. Hopefully we have seen the last of those visitors.

Worship: Lynette wanted to share much appreciation to many of our church members who helped decorate the sanctuary. From the tree to the swags, we were blest throughout the season. There will be new liturgies with new hymns. The Worship Committee will try to have a few more hymns that people know to end our service with. On January 17-18, many of our Worship Committee will attend a workshop to learn about faith, music, and art. The next committee meeting will be January 14th.

Jeannette also shared two different facility rental agreements. One was very simple and one was quite complex. She will work with Pastor to draft a combination of the two and then present to council.

Pastor led council in devotions that gave members the opportunity to reflect over the past year on council.

Since there was no more business the meeting was closed at 9:20 p.m. with a blessing for each of us given by each of us.

WHAT IS WORSHIP?

As our world changes and the Christian faith is increasingly marginalized or misunderstood it is important for us to understand our own practices. Please join a group exploring some interesting questions like, "What is that we do when we worship? How is God involved in worship? What is essential in worship and what is not? We'll read and discuss a small book together, "Central Things: Worship in Word and Sacrament." Sign up in the parish hall. There will be space for you to indicate what day and time would be best for you to meet.

HELP NEEDED

We have a couple jobs in the office that can be done by a member of the congregation. You can do it yourself or get a couple people to help you. They are jobs that can be done at the church or at home.

- 1) Organizing bulletin cover art work by Ken Mitchell so that they can be used better on our church bulletins. Pastor Val can help explain this job to you and, if you are interested contact her. Ken has drawn many great pieces of art which we are anxious to use.

OR

- 2) Organize information given by members regarding their gifts and talents so that they can be matched with various ministries. Remember the forms we all filled out with personal info and various interests we would like to share? We would like to see these organized by interests so that we can use all the talents we have in our congregation. Contact Susan if you are interested.

If you never filled one of these sheets out, please contact Susan and she will give you a copy.
